DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's submission filed on November 2, 2007 has been entered. Claims 22, 25-27, 29 and 31-38 remain pending and under examination.

Response to Amendment

2. The rejection of claim 33 under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention, is withdrawn in view of Applicant's amendment.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 22, 25-27, 29 and 31-38 remain rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. This is a new matter rejection.

Applicant's arguments have been carefully considered but fail to persuade. Applicant points to several references in the specification for support of the "method of screening kidney function for the ability to fragment protein in a patient". Applicant points to page 1, paragraph 3, page 7, paragraph 34, page 14, paragraph 77, page 16, paragraph 85, and page 25, paragraph 136.

Art Unit: 1648

In response, the Office has carefully reviewed these passages from the specification as well as the claimed subject matter, and maintains its position that the specification does not appear to adequately provide support for the preamble of the claims. It is clear from the specification that fragmentation profiles are generated, and that decreased protein fragmentation indicates kidney disease. However, it does not appear that Applicant intended to screen kidney function for decrease activity without reference to kidney disease. The problem is that the screening of kidney function itself is not the invention in and of itself, rather, the invention is the correlation of that decreased function with kidney disease. Previously, the claims were drawn to a method of diagnosing renal disease or a condition associated with renal disease/complications by performing the instantly claimed method steps. Now, Applicant is claiming an intermediate step as an invention, when it was only ever a link to diagnosing renal disease. While the steps in the instant methods are supported in the specification, the overall purpose of the steps (screening kidney function for the ability to fragment protein) does not appear to have been contemplated at the time of filing.

The instant invention is concerned with the fragmentation profiles of proteins as they relate to intact modified protein. It is the intact modified protein (initially identifiable by HPLC) that renders the method of monitoring the fragmentation profile novel according to the specification. The phrase "screening kidney function for the ability to fragment protein" is of a broader scope than the initial intent of the specification, which is to monitor intact modified protein via fragmentation profiles. The specification is not directed to overall, general screening of kidney function for the ability to fragment protein without a step of correlating that determination (a decrease in protein fragmentation) with renal disease. Therefore, the claims are rejected for reciting new matter that was not supported in the specification as originally filed.

Conclusion

4. No claim is allowed.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
